This is little blue.

Here he is at home with papa and mama blue.

Little blue has many friends -- but his best friend is little yellow, who lives across the street.

How they love to play at Hide-and-Seek and Ring-a-Ring-O'Roses!

In school they sit still in neat rows. After school they run and jump.

One day mama blue went shopping. "You stay at home" she said to little blue.

But little blue went out to look for little yellow.

Alas! The house across the street was empty.

He looked here and there and everywhere ... until suddenly, around a corner, there was little yellow!

Happily they hugged each other and hugged each other until they were green.

Then they went to play in the park. They ran through a tunnel. They chased little orange. They climbed a mountain. When they were tired they went home.

But papa and mama blue said: "You are not our little blue -- you are green." And papa and mama yellow said: "You are not our little yellow -- you are green."

Little blue and little yellow were very sad. They cried big blue and yellow tears. They cried and cried until they were all tears.

When they finally pulled themselves together they said: "Will they believe us now?"

Mama blue and papa blue were very happy to see their little blue. They hugged and kissed him. And they hugged little yellow too ... but look ... they became green!

Now they knew what had happened, and so they went across the street to bring the good news.

They all hugged each other with joy, and the children played until suppertime.

The End

- The opening spreads introduce little blue at home with papa and mama blue, establish little yellow across the street, and show the friends playing Hide-and-Seek and Ring-a-Ring-O'Roses.
- The middle spreads follow little blue's search, the joyful hug that turns them green, and their play in the park (tunnel, little orange, mountain).
- The closing spreads show both sets of parents rejecting the green children, the blue-and-yellow tears, the happy reunion hug that turns the parents green, and the joyful embrace of both families.

- Torn-paper collage blobs carry the color-mixing narrative, with wall-to-wall color fields on the transformation spreads.
