

Writing:
Ideas The writing piece's content, its central message and the details included that support the message. The writer's ability to find a meaningful topic; focus and develop the topic, including credible and accurate details.	Audience The writer's ability to orient, engage, influence and affect the reader . They know the purpose of their writing and can identify and cater to and for their intended audience. They make deliberate and precise choices regarding tone, language and devices .	Organisation The internal structure of the writing piece - the thread of logic, the pattern of meaning. The writer creates strong leads, sequences the piece logically, uses connecting words, demonstrates good pacing, and ends the piece strongly.	Word Choice The vocabulary the writer uses to convey meaning and enlighten the reader. They use tier 2 and 3 vocabulary appropriately, selects striking words and phrases to strengthen their writing and deepen the meaning.
Sentence Fluency The way the writing sounds - the flow of words and phrases through the piece. The writer's ability to craft well-built sentences; varying sentence types, lengths and sentence starters. The writer breaks the 'rules' for interest and impact.	Conventions The mechanical correctness of the piece of writing. Correct use of capitalisation, spelling, punctuation, paragraphing and grammar . This includes editing .	Spelling	Presentation The physical appearance of the piece of writing. The writer's handwriting is clear and legible. They publish their writing to enhance readability, making good use of physical space and use text features effectively.

THE WRITING PROCESS

NGARRI PRIMARY SCHOOL ENGLISH CURRICULUM

FOUNDATION
Speaking and Listening
Language for interacting with others	Language for expression and developing ideas	Engaging with and responding to literature.	Presenting/speaking to an audience.
Key Understandings	Key Understandings	Key Understandings	Key Understandings
Key Skills	Key Skills	Key Skills	Key Skills
Reading and Viewing
Phonological Awareness oral and auditory (syllables and phonemes)	Phonics written and auditory	Fluency	Vocabulary
Key Understandings Sounds can be segmented and blended. Sounds (phonemes) can be changed by adding, deleting or substituting to create new words. The difference between words, letters, sounds. Alliteration is when words start with the same sound. Syllables are a beat in a word you can hear with a vowel sound Rhyming words are words which have the same sound at the end of the word. Key Skills I can segment the sound in 1 syllable words I can blend the sounds in 1 syllables words. I can identify the location of a sound in the words (e.g beginning, middle or end).	Key Understandings Letters have names Letters have sounds The difference between a consonant and a vowel. Segmenting and blending words helps me read them. Diagrams are when 2 letters make 1 sound e.g sh, th, ch. The difference between real and non-sense words. Key Skills I can identify the name of the letters of the alphabet (both upper and lowercase) I can identify the sounds of the letters of the alphabet I can tell the difference between a consonant and a vowel. I can segment and blend the sounds in words to read	Key Understandings Reading with fluency sounds smooth and automatic. Some words need to be recognised automatically and cannot be sounded out e.g (was, they, said) That we start read from the first word on the left side of the page Each word on the page needs to be read aloud. That we read from left to write with a return sweep. Sounds, words, sentences, self correcting, adjusting pace. Groups of words are used to create sentences. Sentences end with a full stop or editing punctuation. Key Skills	Key Understandings Topic specific vocabulary are words which are connected to a specific topic. Each person has their own individual vocabulary (words they know, understand and use) Different words are seen within different topics Key Skills I can predict words I might see within a text about a specific topic. I can identify when a word is new to my vocabulary. I can ask questions about new vocabulary words. (e.g asking the teacher or a friend what does this word mean). I can use clues from the pictures to work out the meaning I can explain what a new words means

I can identify words which begin with the same sound (alliteration) I can add a sound into a word to create a new word. I can delete/remove a sound to create a new word I can substitute/swap a sound to create a new word. I can identify a sound, letter and word. I can count the syllables in a word. I can identify rhyming words (orally) I can create new rhyming words (orally)	them. I can read digraphs as one sound when segmenting and blending. I can identify if a word is real or nonsense.	I can identify where to start reading on the page I can point to each word on the page as I read them. I can identify which direction I read (left to right with return sweep) I can read high frequency words automatically. I can read cvc words by sight (by the end of Foundation). I can pause when I come to a full stop. I can read like I am speaking I can slow down when I have a word I need to work out. I can re-read my sentence after working out a word.
Monitoring and self correcting	Literal knowledge/comprehension (retelling, answering literal questions, summarising)	Verbal responding (inference, metaphor)	Literacy knowledge (print concepts, genre)
Key Understandings What I read needs to make sense, sound right and look right. I need to stop when what I have read does not make sense, sound right or look right. Clues from the pictures and words can help me fix up my errors. Key Skills I can stop when my reading does not make sense, sound right or look right. (Choose 1 to focus on for a series of lessons) I can go back to the start of the sentence and re-read I can fix up my error using picture or word clues and continue reading.	Key Understandings Retelling is when I tell what happened in the text Some texts need to be retold in order and some do not (Fiction vs non-fiction) Pictures and words in the text can help me answer questions. Key Skills I can look back at the pictures and words to retell 1-2 pieces of important information I can look back at the pictures and words in the book to retell what happened. I can retell the beginning, problem and solution of a text. I can retell the events/steps in order	Key Understandings predicting is when we think about what might happen in the book. Prior knowledge can be used to help me predict and make connections to the text, Texts often allow us to learn something new. Clues within a text are needed to infer the emotions of a character Key Skills I can use the title and front cover to predict what might happen in the text I can predict the problem and solution of the text using what has already happened in the text. I can identify how the book reminds me of	Key Understandings Narrative texts (fiction texts) tell stories and informative texts (non-fiction) give us information. Why I have favourite books. Fiction texts usually have drawn pictures, whereas non-fiction texts usually have photographs Narratives texts usually have a beginning (characters, setting) problem and solution Informative texts contain facts. Key Skills I can identify some features of imaginary texts such as drawn pictures, family beginnings e.g once upon a time, A long, long time ago, familiar characters such as fairytale characters I can identify some features of informative texts such as real something in my own life. I can explain what I already knew about the topic before reading it. I can explain what I learnt about the topic from reading the text. I can identify how the book reminds me of something in my own life. I can infer the emotions of a character using pictures and words (happy, sad, angry, excited, tired).	photographs I can identify some features of imaginary texts such as drawn pictures and familiar characters. I can identify books which I enjoy I can explain why I enjoy these books e.g because they are funny, because I like scary stories. I can identify the beginning, problem and solution of the text.

Writing
Ideas	Audience	Organisation	Word choice
Key Understandings I understand: -writing is used to communicate a message/meaning/idea -I need to develop a clear idea before writing - authors write about their own experience Key Skills I can choose a topic/idea to write about, when given a prompt or starting sentence, drawing upon familiar experiences and topics. I can convey my own ideas through talking, drawing and writing. I can identify the ideas/message within familiar texts. I can retell and adapt familiar texts verbally, through play, drawing and writing. I can reread my own writing and talk about the text I have created. I can collect ideas/seeds for my writing in my Writer's Notebook. Essential Vocabulary	Key Understandings I understand: -I am writing for an audience -my writing needs to be read and understood by my audience Key Skills I can discuss that I am writing for someone else. I can discuss the importance of my audience being able to read and understand my writing. Essential Vocabulary Audience, read, understood	Key Understandings I understand: -writing is directional from left to right and top to bottom -writing is sequenced -writing has features -writing has a title Key Skills I can write from left to right, top to bottom. I can leave spaces between my words. I can write a title for my writing when needed. I can include a beginning, middle and end (recount, narrative etc). I can write in a logical sequence. Essential Vocabulary Directionality, spaces, title, logical sequence.	Key Understandings I understand; - writer's use familiar words in their writing - writer's use words to make my sentences more interesting - words used need to match the topic/text type - words can be organised into three different tiers that can be used at different times for specific purposes Key Skills I can match the words to the picture/object. I can correctly use familiar words in my writing. I can experiment with new words in my writing. I can match my vocabulary to the text type I am writing about. I can experiment with adjectives in my writing I can use verbs in my writing. I can experiment with more interesting verbs. Essential Vocabulary Familiar words, new vocabulary words, pictures, objects,

Idea, topic, message, seed, re-read, retell, collect			matching, sense, experiment.
Sentence Fluency	Conventions	Spelling	Presentation
Key Understandings I understand: - sentences can express an idea - a simple sentence expresses a single complete idea - sentences are made up of words - sentences need to make sense to the reader Key Skills I can identify the words in my sentence. I can recognise when I have a complete sentence I can write a sentence that makes sense. I can identify a noun in a sentence. I can identify a verb in a sentence. I can identify an adjective I can use a noun and verb in a sentence. Essential Vocabulary Sentence, nouns, adjective, sense.	Key Understandings I understand; -punctuation makes writing easier for the reader to understand -a capital letter can be used at the start of my writing and for names -writing needs to finish with a full stop -punctuation marks are used to guide the reader through the writing (capital letters and full stops) Key Skills I can start my writing with a capital letter. I can write lowercase letters when not starting my writing or beginning a name. I can finish my writing with a full stop. I can explain why I am using certain punctuation in my writing (e.g I am using a full stop to say my writing is finished, I am using a capital letter here because this is someone's name). I can work with my teacher to identify if my writing makes sense. (tense) I can read over my own writing, identifying my capital letters and full stops. I can work with my teacher to add in any missing capital letters and full stops. Essential Vocabulary Punctuation, capital letters, full stops.	Key Understandings I understand that correct spelling allows the audience to read the text. I understand that some words need to be spelt from memory. I understand that some words can be spelt by sounding them out. I understand what consonants and vowels are. I understand that the sounds in a word need to be written in order to spell a word. I understand the difference between a letter and a sound. I understand that 2 letters can work together to make one sound (digraphs). Key Skills I can spell Magic Words from memory. I can say the word I want to spell I can say the sounds in the word. I can segment and blend the letters in CVC words. I can recognise the name and sound of the letters of the alphabet. I can use digraphs to spell words (ch, sh, th, ng, ck, ph, wh, ee, oo). I can use rules to correctly spell words. Essential Vocabulary Magic words, CVC, consonant, vowel, digraph, blend, segment, sound, letter, spell, alphabet, order, audience, rule.	Key Understandings I understand; -my audience needs to be able to recognise the letters in my writing to read what I have written. - when I am presenting my work it needs to be my personal best - how to form letters - visuals can enhance my writing Key Skills I can draw a picture which matches my writing. I can form upper and lowercase letters of the alphabet using the correct starting point and direction. I can include the changes made during revising and editing. Essential Vocabulary Audience, letters, publish, pictures/illustrations, author, illustrator, revising and editing.

YEAR 1
Speaking and Listening
Key Understandings		Key Understandings
Key Skills		Key Skills
Reading and Viewing
Phonological awareness oral and auditory	Phonics written and auditory	Fluency	Vocabulary

Key Understandings Sounds (phonemes) can be segmented and blended. Words can be changed by adding, deleting or substituting sounds (phonemes) to create new words. There are short and long vowel sounds Syllables are a beat in a word you can hear with a word. Each syllable has a vowel sound. Key Skills I can segment the sounds in 2 syllable words I can blend the sounds in 2 syllable words. I can identify the location of a sound in the words (e.g beginning, middle or end). I can differentiate between a short or long vowel sound I can add a sound into a word to create a new word. I can delete/remove a sound to create a new word I can substitute/swap a sound to create a new word. I can segment a word into syllables I can identify the number of syllables in a word. Essential Vocabulary	Key Understandings Phonemes (sounds) are represented by graphemes (letters) Phonemes (Sounds) can represent more than one grapheme (letters). Segmenting and blending words to read. Diagrams are when 2 letters make 1 sound e.g sh, th, ch. Consonant blends Trigraphs are when 3 letters make 1 sound. The difference between real and non-sense words. Key Skills I can match graphemes (letters) to their most common (phonemes) I can segment and blend the phonemes (sounds) in words to read them. I can read digraphs as one sound when segmenting and blending. I can read trigraphs as one sound when segmenting and blending. I can identify if a word is real or nonsense. Essential Vocabulary	Key Understandings Reading with fluency sounds smooth and automatic. Some words need to be recognised automatically and cannot be sounded out e.g (was, they, said) Groups of words are used to create sentences. Sentences end with a full stop or editing punctuation. Groups of words can be read as phrases. Phrasing helps reading sound fluent. Key Skills I can track each word on the page with my eyes as I read them. I can read high frequency words automatically. I can pause when I come to a full stop. I can read like I am speaking I can slow down when I have a word I need to work out. I can re-read my sentence after working out a word. I can group words together in phrases as I read Essential Vocabulary	Key Understandings Topic specific vocabulary are words which are connected to a specific topic. Each person has their own individual vocabulary (words they know, understand and use) Different words are seen within different topics The meaning of topic specific vocabulary can be inferred through clues in the text. That words can be organised into a tier from everyday words to topic specific. Nouns are naming words, verbs are action words and adjectives are describing words. Key Skills I can use the picture to work out the meaning of a word. I can use text to work out the meaning of a word. I can build my vocabulary with new words I learn when I am reading (e.g demonstrate by using the word in a sentence, writing etc) I can categorise words into tiers. I can identify examples of nouns, verbs and adjectives within a text. Essential Vocabulary
Comprehension- Monitoring and self correcting	Comprehension- Thinking within the text (Searching for an using info, summarising)	Thinking beyond the text (Predicting, connections, synthesising, inferring)	Thinking about the text (Analysing, critiquing).
Key Understandings When I read needs to make sense, sound right and look right. I need to stop when what I have read does not make sense, sound right or look right. Clues from the pictures and words can help me fix up my errors. I need to think about what I am reading at all times.	Key Understandings Every text has a purpose it was written for. Summarising is when we tell the most important information from a text. Each genre has unique features. These features are important when summarising and locating specific information. Key Skills	Key Understandings Each genre has unique features. These features are important when making predictions. (predicting) Predicting is when we make an educated guess about what might happen within the text. (predicting) Inferring is when we work out what the author doesn't exactly say.	Key Understandings Narrative persuasive and informative texts have similarities and differences. Different text types of texts have different purposes. Texts can have realistic or imaginary parts of a fiction texts. Key Skills

I need to re-read when my reading has lost meaning. Key Skills I can stop when my reading does not make sense, sound right or look right. (Choose 1 to focus on for a series of lessons) I can fix up my errors using picture or word clues and continue reading. I can ask myself “Do I understand what I have read?” I can go back and re-read when I have lost meaning. I can explain what I have read.	I can identify the purpose for reading. I can explain what information is important within the text. I can use the sequence of a text to help me locate information. I can use the features of a non-fiction text to locate information, including the contents page, subheadings, glossary, captions, pictures and diagrams. I can use the features of fiction texts to locate information, chronological order, plot, events, problems, solutions and characters. Essential Vocabulary	Text to self connections help us to better understand what we are reading. Key Skills I can use many clues to help me predict what might happen within the text (title, front cover pictures, blurb, prior knowledge, text structure, books by the same author). (predicting) I can change my predictions as I gain more information when reading. (predicting) I can infer character feelings using text clues such as pictures and words. I can make connections between a text and my own life. Essential Vocabulary	I can explain how texts are similar and how they are different. I can identify the purpose of different text types. I can identify the realistic and imaginary parts of a fiction text. Essential Vocabulary
---	---	---	---

Writing

Ideas	Audience	Organisation	Word choice
Key Understandings I understand: -writing is used to communicate a message/meaning/idea - I need knowledge of my idea/s to include detail in my writing. This knowledge can be developed through mentor texts, experiences -author’s write about their own experiences Key Skills I can choose a topic/idea to write about, using mentor texts, prompts or my own ideas/experiences. I can develop an idea/plan through drawings, labelling and vocabulary lists/word banks. I can include supportive descriptions, details or examples to explain the important ideas in my writing.	Key Understandings I understand: -I am writing for a purpose and intended audience. -my writing can engage and influence the reader Key Skills I can describe the audience and purpose of my writing. I can write with a specific reader or audience in mind. I can discuss ways I can engage my audience- e.g interesting lead, word choices, persuasive devices etc. Essential Vocabulary Audience, purpose, intended, influence, engage	Key Understandings I understand: - writing follows a logical sequence -writing has organisational features and these features assist the reader to understand the message -different text types have unique organisational features based on their purpose Key Skills I can identify organisational features in a text. I can explain the purpose of organisational features. I can include organisational features in my writing based on text type/genre. I can choose a heading that captures the main message of my writing.	Key Understandings I understand; - word choices enhance the reader's experience - word choices allow the writer to communicate a message clearly -different types of words have different purposes - words can be organised into three different tiers ranging from general to specific in meaning. - words, phrases or sentences can be borrowed from other authors’ Key Skills I can use tier 2 vocabulary to enhance the reader's experience and provide clear meaning (eg. frustrated, stumbled). I can use tier 3 vocabulary to provide a clear message about a specific subject topic (eg.

I can reread my own writing and talk about the text I have created. Essential Vocabulary Message, idea, detail, author, topic, vocabulary, description, mentor text, important ideas, writing seeds.		I can include basic sequencing and connecting words to organise the events and information in my writing (such as and, then, also, next, last) I can include beginning, middle, events and ending when writing to entertain. I can include an introduction and sequence of information when writing to inform. Essential Vocabulary Sequence, order, structure, features, genre, purpose, organisation, text type, connecting words, heading/title, beginning, middle, end, problem, solution, introduction, body, quality conclusion.	bioluminescence, photosynthesis) I can use nouns and pronouns to represent people, places and things. I can use verbs and experiment adverbs to describe details including when, where and how. I can use adjectives to describe the qualities of a noun. I can use words to describe when and how things happen (prepositions) Essential Vocabulary Vocabulary, tier 2, tier 3, striking words, phrases, nouns, pronouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, prepositions, describing words.
Sentence Fluency	Conventions	Spelling	Presentation
Key Understandings I understand; -writing is used to communicate a message/meaning/idea - I need knowledge of my idea/s to include detail in my writing. This knowledge can be developed through mentor texts, experiences. -authors write about their own experiences Key Skills I can choose a topic/idea to write about, using mentor texts, prompts or my own ideas/experiences. I can develop an idea/plan through drawings, labelling and vocabulary lists/word banks. I can include supportive descriptions, details or examples to explain the important ideas in my writing. I can reread my own writing and talk about the text I have created.	Key Understandings I understand; -the purpose of capital letters within a sentence (at the start and proper nouns) -sentences have concluding punctuation -punctuation can be used to create effect and to guide the reader (exclamation mark, question mark and full stop) Key Skills I can begin my sentences with a capital letter. I can finish my sentences with a full stop. I can begin a proper noun with a capital letter. I can use question marks at the end of a sentence when I am writing a question. I can use exclamation marks for effect. I can revise my writing to improve meaning and effect. I edit my writing to fix up punctuation errors. I can experiment with other types of punctuation (e.g	Key Understandings I understand what a phoneme is a sound I understand what a grapheme is a letter/letters that represent a phoneme I understand a letter can represent more than one phoneme I understand that a syllable must contain a vowel sound I understand what a word family is and how they can help me to spell new words Key Skills I can recognise the graphemes that represent a long vowel sound I can recognise the graphemes that represent alternate vowel sounds Digraphs - consonant and vowel Contractions	Key Understandings I understand; - when I present my writing it is for an audience - when I am presenting my work it needs to be my personal best. - when to correctly use upper and lower case - I can select many formats to publish - visuals can enhance my writing Key Skills I can include my revisions and edits in my final published piece. I can include visuals to enhance my writing. I can select/create visuals that will enhance the reader's understanding. I can form upper and lowercase letters of the alphabet using correct starting point and direction Essential Vocabulary Audience, letters, publish, pictures/illustrations, Essential Vocabulary Message, idea, detail, author, topic, vocabulary, description, mentor text, important ideas, writing seeds.	ellipses, quotation marks, commas etc) Essential Vocabulary Capital letter, full stop, proper nouns, question mark, beginning, end, revise, edit.	Homophones I can read one and two syllable words I can write one and two syllable words Blending sounds to read words. Segmenting sounds to spell words. Manipulating sounds to build new words to read and spell. Essential Vocabulary	author, illustrator, revising and editing.

--	--	---	---

YEAR 2
Speaking and Listening
Key Understandings		Key Understandings
Key Skills		Key Skills
Reading and Viewing
Phonological Awareness	Phonics	Fluency	Vocabulary
Key Understandings Sounds (phonemes) can be segmented and blended. Words can be changed by adding, deleting or substituting sounds (phonemes) to create new words. The number of syllables can be identified within words. Key Skills I can segment and blend the sounds in multisyllabic syllable words I can describe the location of the sound in a word e.g the ‘er’ sound is at start of the second syllable I can manipulate the sounds in words to create new word by adding, substituting or removing sounds.	Key Understandings Phonemes (sounds) are represented by graphemes (letters) Phonemes (sounds) can represent more than one grapheme (letters). Segmenting and blending multisyllabic words to help me read them. Digraphs are when 2 letters make 1 sound e.g sh, th, ch. There are both consonant and vowel digraphs. Trigraphs are when 3 letters make 1 sound. Key Skills I can match graphemes (letters) to different (phonemes) e.g the ‘ead’ in read and read (reed) I can identify the syllables in words before segmenting and blending. I can segment and blend the phonemes (sounds) in multisyllabic words to read them. I can read digraphs and triagraphs as one sound when segmenting and blending.	Key Understandings Reading with fluency helps me understand the text. To read fluently I need to use appropriate phrasing, pausing, intonation (pitch, tone, expression) Dialogue is what the characters are saying in a text. Words that are presented in bold or italics need to be read with emphasis. Key Skills I can read groups of words in meaningful phrases. I can change my pace and expression using a range of punctuation marks. I can change my voice to reflect the dialogue within the text. I can read words in bold or italics with emphasis.	Key Understandings Topic specific vocabulary are words which are connected to a specific topic. The meaning of topic specific vocabulary can be inferred through clues in the text (picture, texts, diagrams and knowledge of word parts e.g hopeless means without hope. . That words can be organised into a tier from everyday words to topic specific. Nouns are naming words, verbs are action words, adjectives are describing words and adverbs describe actions. . Key Skills I can use text to work out the meaning of a word. I can build my vocabulary with new words i learn when I am reading (e.g demonstrate by using the word in a sentence, writing etc) I can categorise words into tiers. I can identify examples of nouns, verbs, adverbs and adjectives within a text.

Comprehension- Monitoring and self correcting	Comprehension- Thinking within the text (Searching for an using info, summarising)	Thinking beyond the text (Predicting, connections, synthesising, inferring)	Thinking about the text (Analysing, critiquing).
Key Understandings To understand what I read I need to think about (monitor) what I am reading at all times. To understand a text I need to re-read when my reading has lost meaning or doesn't make sense. Key Skills -I can use a range of strategies to self correct and monitor my reading. E.g *letter sound knowledge *high frequency words *content knowledge *aware of text structure and features	Key Understandings Texts are created for a specific purpose and audience Summarising is when we retell the most important information from within a text. Each genre has unique features. These features are important when summarising and locating specific information. The main idea of the text is most important point/part the author wants us to understand Key Skills I can identify the purpose and audience of different types of texts I can explain what information is important within the text. I can summarise a text in the correct sequence. I can use the features of a non-fiction text to locate information, including the contents page, subheadings, glossary, captions, pictures and diagrams. I can use the features of fiction texts to locate key information, chronological order, plot, events, problems, solutions and characters. I can identify and justify what the main idea of the text is. Essential Vocabulary	Key Understandings That synthesis is when we use our prior knowledge and the text to build deeper understandings. (Synthesising) Predicting likely vocabulary in the text helps us tune in to the topic or ideas of the text. Using our prior knowledge and text evidence helps us make more accurate predictions. Key Skills I can identify my prior knowledge about the text and what is new to me. (synthesising) I can identify how the new knowledge developed my thinking. (synthesising) I can predict vocabulary words I might encounter when reading my text. I can use my prior knowledge and text evidence to make, confirm or modify predictions.	Key Understandings Texts are organised differently depending on their genre and purpose. Texts use different language features depending on their purpose. Different text types of texts have different purposes. Language can be used to appreciate texts and provide reasons for preferences Key Skills I can identify the structure and features of a text. I can make connections between language features and their purpose. I can identify the purpose of different text types using evidence to explain my reasoning E.g identify structure Explaining text features Types of vocabulary used e.g technical vocabulary found information texts. I can use precise words and phrases to discuss what I liked about the text such as 'I liked how the author described the setting because ...' I can use words such as, 'preferred' and 'enjoyed' to describe what I liked about the text.
Writing

Ideas	Audience	Organisation	Word choice
Key Understandings I understand: - ideas are used to convey meaning -how to plan a variety of texts (narrative, informative, persuasive) -How to create ideas for a variety of texts (narrative, informative, persuasive) -author's write about their own experiences and knowledge Key Skills I can include at least one idea from prior knowledge, personal experiences and text connections (eg mentor texts, independent texts, instructional texts, visual texts). I can elaborate on at least one idea. I can record my ideas in a graphic organiser. I can expand an idea through key details, drawings, labelling and vocabulary lists/word banks. I can include supportive descriptions, details or examples to explain the important ideas in my writing. Essential Vocabulary -Audience, structures, topic, ideas, details, descriptions, prior knowledge, personal experience. .	Key Understandings I understand: -I am writing for a purpose and intended audience (express an opinion, explore an idea, narrate -my writing can engage, speak to and influence the reader -writing can capture a general mood and evoke emotions such as happy, sad or mad. Key Skills I can explain that an author writes for one of the following purposes: -to persuade -to inform -to entertain I can explain and justify ways I can engage my audience (e.g interesting leads, word choice, onomatopoeia, persuasive devices etc). I can write with a specific reader or audience in mind. I can include emotive language in my writing to create a general mood. I can provide information to support reader understanding. I can experiment with different/new word choices dependent on my audience. Essential Vocabulary Purpose, persuade, inform, entertain, engage, explain, influence.	Key Understandings I understand: -how different types of texts are organised differently -how to create texts by adapting structures and language features of previously encountered in literary texts -how to re-read and edit texts for text structure Key Skills I can identify how different language features enhance a text. I can identify the structure of different text types. I can include my ideas in a logical sequence. I can experiment with organising my writing into paragraphs by grouping them into like ideas. I can include the relevant features of a text type e.g beginning problem, solution, subheading, informative sentence, introduction, conclusion, arguments and reasons. Essential Vocabulary Texts, organised, logical sequence, re-read, edit, structure.	Key Understandings I understand; - word choices enhance the reader's experience -different tiered vocabulary can be used for a specific purpose, ranging from general to specific in meaning -different types of words have different purposes -rhymes, rhythm and word patterns can be used to enhance the reader's experience -the difference between synonyms and antonyms - words, phrases or sentences can be borrowed from other authors Key Skills I can borrow a word, phrase or sentence from another author. I can identify and use memorable words and phrases. I can substitute or add descriptive vocabulary to make my writing more interesting. I can use verbs and adverbs to describe details including when, where and how. I can begin to experiment with simple figurative language. I can experiment with alternative vocabulary for common nouns, adjectives and verbs (e.g. other words for said). I can identify and use tier 3 vocabulary to provide a clear message about a specific subject topic (eg. bioluminescence, photosynthesis) I can use adjectives to describe the qualities of a noun (characters, settings, emotions, events). Essential Vocabulary Vocabulary, tier 2, tier 3, noun, describe, figurative language, substitute, add, verbs, borrow, memorable words and phrases.

Sentence Fluency	Conventions	Spelling	Presentation
Key Understandings I understand: - varying the structure and length of sentences enhances the reader's experience - a compound sentence is made up of 2 or more independent clauses the difference between an independent and dependent clause - a conjunction is used to join clauses within a compound sentence - sentences need to sound fluent when read aloud - varying the start of sentences will engage the reader - there are different tenses to use when writing (past, present, future) Key Skills I can include compound sentences in my writing. I can experiment with different length sentences for effect. I can experiment with using complex sentences. I can use a range of conjunctions to construct a compound sentence (linking 2 independent clauses) I can re-read my sentences to check they sound smooth, fluent and maintain correct tense. Essential Vocabulary conjunctions compound sentences, fluency, smooth, dependent clause, independent clause.	Key Understandings I understand; - texts are made cohesive by using personal and possessive pronouns and omitting words that can be inferred - capital letters are used in titles and for proper nouns - commas are used to separate items in lists - texts can be edited and re-read for spelling and sentence boundary punctuation - punctuation can be used to make the text interesting and to support voice - punctuation marks are used to guide the reader through the writing (exclamation marks, question marks, full stops, capital letters, commas) Key Skills I can re-read and edit my text to improve it. I can include capital letters and full stops in my writing in appropriate places (start and end of a sentence and for proper nouns) I can ensure capital letters are included when writing a title. I can include commas appropriately when writing a list. I can experiment with: - apostrophes - ellipses - quotation marks	Key Understandings I know/understand - what blending, segmenting and manipulating is in order to read and write increasingly complex words (phonemic awareness). - what phoneme-grapheme correspondence knowledge is in order to read and write words of one or more syllables with vowel digraphs, less common long vowel patterns, consonant blends and silent letters (phonic knowledge). - what spelling patterns and morphemes are in order to read and write words whose spelling is not completely predictable from their sounds, including high-frequency words. - how to build morphemic word families using knowledge of prefixes and suffixes. Key Skills I can segment the sounds within words. I can blend the sounds within complex words. I can manipulate words using onset and rime. I can identify what a prefix is. I can build morphemic word families using knowledge of prefixes. I can identify what a suffix is. I can build morphemic word families using knowledge of suffixes. Essential Vocabulary	Key Understandings I understand; - how to create and present my writing for a familiar audience - when I am presenting my work it needs to be my personal best - how to write words legibly and with growing fluency using correctly formed lowercase and uppercase letters I can experiment with a range of software programs to publish my writing. - visuals can enhance my writing - edits and revisions enhance my work Key Skills I can write words using letters that are correctly formed and legible. I can use different types of visuals to enhance my presentation with my audience in mind (e.g diagram, pictures, caption) I can use applications on an iPad to publish my writing. I can include my revisions and edits in my published work Essential Vocabulary Personal best, legibly, uppercase, lowercase, edits, revisions.

	Essential Vocabulary Commas, capital letters, proper nouns, pronouns, exclamation marks, question marks.
--	---	--	--

YEAR 3
Speaking and Listening
Key Understandings		Key Understandings
Key Skills		Key Skills
Reading and Viewing
Phonological Awareness oral and auditory	Phonics written and auditory	Fluency	Vocabulary
Key Understandings Words can be changed by adding, deleting or substituting sounds (phonemes) to create new words. The number of syllables can be identified within words. Some multisyllabic words are made of base words and affixes. Key Skills I can segment and blend the sounds in multisyllabic syllable words. I can identify the base word and affix within a word. I can describe the location of the sound in a word e.g the ‘er’ sound is at start of the second syllable I can manipulate the sounds in words to create new word by adding, substituting or removing sounds.	Key Understandings Segmenting and blending multisyllabic words helps me read them. I can use letter patterns, base words and affixes to help me. Trigraphs are when 3 letters make 1 sound. Homophones Homophones are words that sound the same but have different meanings and spellings. - do these need to be in here?? Key Skills I can match graphemes (letters) to different (phonemes) e.g the ‘ead’ in read and read (reed) I can identify the syllables in words before segmenting and blending. I can segment and blend the phonemes (sounds) in multisyllabic words to read them. I can read digraphs and trigraphs as one sound when segmenting and blending.	Key Understandings Reading with fluency helps the reader understand the text. To read fluently I need to use appropriate phrasing, pausing, intonation (pitch, tone, expression) Dialogue is a conversation between two or more characters within the story. Words that are presented in bold, italics or uppercase need to be read with emphasis. Should HFWs go in here? Reading with fluency requires the reader to recognise and read high frequency words with automaticity Key Skills I can read groups of words in meaningful phrases. I can change my pace and expression using a range of punctuation marks. I can change my voice to reflect the dialogue within the text. I can read words in bold, italics or uppercase with emphasis.	Key Understandings Authors can use literacy devices for effect and purpose. The meaning of vocabulary words and phrases can be worked out using a range of strategies. The same words can have different meanings depending on the context they are used within a sentence. Modal verbs are used by authors to indicate different degrees of obligation, probability and possibility Key Skills I can identify the literacy devices used by the author such as rhyme, onomatopoeia, descriptive language, alliteration and discuss their purpose/effect I can use a range of strategies to work out the meaning of unknown words and phrases (using picture clues, context of the sentence, diagrams, glossaries, knowledge of words parts, using a dictionary or thesaurus).

			I can identify examples of model verbs within the text and discuss their purpose. Do we need how prefixes and suffixes change the meaning of a word hear.
Comprehension- Monitoring and self correcting	Comprehension- Thinking within the text (Searching for and using info, summarising)	Thinking beyond the text (Predicting, connections, synthesising, inferring)	Thinking about the text (Analysing, critiquing).
Key Understandings Self-monitoring when reading involves thinking about what is being read and using multiple sources to confirm meaning. These sources include language structure, illustrations, and diagrams. Homographs are words that are spelt the same but have different meanings, and sometimes different pronunciations. Understanding them requires using context to determine which meaning is intended. Homophones Homophones are words that sound the same but have different meanings and spellings. Contractions are when two words are combines to make a new, shorter word. An apostrophe is used to show where the letters have been removed. Key Skills I can self-monitor when reading by asking myself 'Does this make sense?' I can use multiple sources in a text to check my understanding. Including rereading the sentence or passage, using the images, glossary, caption, knowledge of the topic etc. I can use the context of the text to read homographs with accuracy. I can use the spelling of homophones and the context of the text to read homophones with accuracy.	Key Understandings Images and sounds within a text enhance our understanding of texts. Summaries are more precise when we retell only the most important ideas, events or details Key Skills I can identify different types of images used within a text such as photographs, diagrams, maps, labels etc). I can explain how these images helped us understand the text. I can identify important and un-important ideas, events or details	Key Understandings Knowledge of other texts can help us make predictions about similar texts. Chapter headings, sub-heading or tabs cans foreshadow a storyline or information to come. Synthesising helps us develop new understandings of a topic or subject. Using a range text clues can help me make predictions and inferences. The message or moral of a text can help us learn lessons to use in real life. Key Skills I can use the chapter heading or sub-heading to predict the likely storyline or information I will encounter I can explain how the sounds in a digital texts helped us understand the text. I can use what I already know about a similar text to make predictions. I can discuss what I already knew about the topic I can identify what was new information and how I now better understanding my topic/subject. I can use a range of text clues to make	Key Understandings Texts with similar purposes can be created for different audiences. Comparing and contrasting helps develop a deeper understanding of texts and topics. Some texts will suit my purpose for reading them depending on their relevance. Fiction texts can have realistic or fantasy elements Key Skills I can identify the purpose and audience of the text using text clues such as age appropriate language, greater use of images rather than text or high level tier 3 vocabulary. I can identify the similarities and differences between texts and ideas. I can determine if the a text was relevant for my purpose for reading. I can identify if the text was realistic or fantasy fiction and explain my reasoning.

I can use my understanding of contractions to understand their meaning within the text.		predictions/inferences including pictures, graphics, past storyline, I can identify the author's message of a text using a range of text clues- I can infer a character's traits using different clues.
Writing
Ideas	Audience	Organisation	Word choice
Key Understandings I understand: - how to plan a variety of texts in detail (narrative, informative, persuasive) -how to create texts, using characters, settings, plot structures and ideas -ideas and details from mentor texts help when creating written and spoken texts -author's write about their own experiences and knowledge Key Skills I can include multiple ideas in a text from a range of sources. I can create related ideas that are clear, coherent and in a logical sequence. I can record my ideas in a range of ways including word splashes, drawings, graphics organisers, mind maps etc. I can elaborate an idea through interesting details, drawings, labelling and vocabulary lists/word banks to create meaning. Essential Vocabulary -ideas, audience, mentor texts, sources, range, topic specific.	Key Understandings I understand: -I am writing for a purpose and intended audience (express an opinion, explore an idea, narrate) -my writing can engage, speak to and influence the reader -writing can capture a general mood and evoke emotions such as happy, sad or mad. Key Skills I can explain that an author writes for one of the following purposes: -to persuade -to inform -to entertain I can explain and justify ways I can engage my audience (e.g interesting leads, word choice, onomatopoeia, persuasive devices etc). I can write with a specific reader or audience in mind. I can include emotive language in my writing to create a general mood. I can provide information to support reader understanding. I can experiment with different/new word choices dependent on my audience. Essential Vocabulary	Key Understandings I understand: -different text types have different language features and structures -different text types have different purposes -that paragraphs are used to group like ideas -when to 'stretch out' a moment in my writing (spotlight) and when to speed through a moment. Key Skills I can describe how different language features enhance a text. I can describe the structure of different text types. I can organise my writing into paragraphs by grouping them into like ideas. I can elaborate on an idea in each of my paragraphs. I can include a clear beginning, middle and end. I can include spotlights and speed throughs in my text to highlight key ideas and pace. I can include clear transitions that connect one sentence to another. Essential Vocabulary Text types, language features, organise, describe , enhance, purpose	Key Understandings I understand; - word choices enhance the reader's experience - word choices are selected and refined allowing the writer to communicate a message clearly - words, phrases or sentences can be borrowed from other authors -that a modal verb is a verb which should include can, should and must. - topic-specific and technical vocabulary can be extended - words can have different meanings in different contexts -different tiered vocabulary can be used for a specific purpose, ranging from general to specific in meaning Key Skills I can use descriptive words, in the correct context and with creativity. I can use common and sophisticated connectives. I can use adverbs in the correct context. I can use tier 2 vocabulary to enhance the reader's experience and provide clear

	Purpose, persuade, inform, entertain, engage, explain, influence.		meaning (eg. frustrated, stumbled) I can use tier 3 vocabulary to provide a clear message about a specific subject topic (eg. bioluminescence, photosynthesis) I can use synonyms. I can choose specific words for a desired effect. I can use words and phrases to capture the reader's imagination. Essential Vocabulary Tier 3 vocabulary, Descriptive Adjectives adverbs Synonyms Connectives
Sentence Fluency	Conventions	Spelling	Presentation
Key Understandings I understand: - varying the structure and length of sentences enhances the reader's experience -the structure of a complex sentence - a cohesive piece of writing has appropriate and consistent tense - the fluency of a sentence is impacted by its grammatical structure - in sentences, nouns may be extended into noun groups using articles and adjectives, and verbs may be expressed as verb groups. Key Skills I can compose a complex sentence including a independent and dependant clause/s. I can use a singular verb when writing about a singular subjects. I can use a plural verb when writing about a plural subject.	Key Understandings I understand; -paragraphs are a key organisational feature of the stages of written texts, grouping related information together -how to re-read and edit texts for meaning, appropriate structure, grammatical choices and punctuation -apostrophes signal missing letters in contractions and are used to show singular and plural possession in regular and irregular nouns -punctuation marks are used to guide the reader through the writing (apostrophes, ellipsis) Key Skills I can use paragraphs in my writing. I can use apostrophes accurately. I can use ellipsis in my writing. I can experiment with quotation marks.	Key Understandings I know/understand I know/understand I know/understand Key Skills Essential Vocabulary	Key Understandings I understand; - how to create and present a text for a specific audience -that when I am presenting my work it needs to be my personal best -how to write words using joined letters that are clearly formed and consistent in size - technology can enhance the presentation of my writing - that a visuals can enhance my writing - that edits and revisions enhance my work. Key Skills I can include appropriate multimodal elements when presenting my writing. I can use writing which is legible and easily read by the audience. I can handwrite using clearly formed letters

I can select an appropriate tense for my writing. I can maintain a consistent tense when writing. I can start sentences in a variety of ways to engage the reader. I can re-read and make changes to my writing to ensure that it is fluent and has the correct grammatical structure. Essential Vocabulary Sentence structure, cohesion, tense, complex sentence.	I can experiment with using brackets in my writing. Essential Vocabulary Paragraphs, clause, re-read, edit, grammar, apostrophes, paragraphs.		that are an appropriate size. I can include my edits and revisions when publishing. I can include visuals to enhance the understanding and effect of my writing. Essential Vocabulary Legible, visuals, effect, edits, revisions.
--	--	--	--

YEAR 4
Speaking and Listening
Key Understandings Key Skills	Key Understandings Key Skills
Reading and Viewing

Phonological Awareness oral and auditory	Phonics written and auditory	Fluency	Vocabulary
Key Understandings Key Skills	Key Understandings Words can be read using a range of strategies. Knowledge of origins helps us understand meaning of words e.g tri in tricycle and tripod. Unstressed vowels are read differently from regular vowel sounds Pronunciation guides show us the correct way to say a word phonetically) Key Skills I can use a range of strategies to read words including blending and segmenting sounds, breaking words into syllables and morpheme knowledge of the topic and understanding of text structure and language features I can identify parts of words and the meaning. I can identify unstressed vowels and read them with correct pronunciation e.g in words like animal and builder. I can use the sounds in a pronunciation guide to practise reading a word before saying the entire word correctly.	Key Understandings Fluency involves reading with sufficient speed, accuracy and expression so that comprehension is possible A fluent reader recognises known words automatically, self-corrects, and reads in meaningful phrases rather than word by word. Adjusting my reading can reflect the tone of a text. Key Skills I can read groups of words in meaningful phrases. I can change my pace and expression using a range of punctuation marks , the context of the text (purpose,mood, voice, dialogue) and text features (typography - bold, italics, bullet points, paragraphs). I can identify the tone of the text and adjust my oral reading accordingly to reflect it.	Key Understandings Authors can use literacy devices for effect and purpose. examining an author's choice of language to describe a character's appearance, behaviour and speech - reword The meaning of vocabulary words and phrases can be worked out using a range of strategies. The same words can have different meanings depending on the context they are used within a sentence. Modal verbs are used by authors to indicate different degrees of obligation, probability and possibility • using language appropriate for a text, such as 'flashback', 'tension' and 'resolution', when sharing opinions about plot structure • defining neologisms and puns, and identifying how they are used by authors to create a sense of freshness, originality and playfulness • discussing poetic language, including adjectives that engage readers emotionally and bring the poet's subject matter to life • exploring emotive language in text Key Skills I can explain the purpose/effect of literary devices used by the author such as rhyme, onomatopoeia, descriptive language, alliteration, flashback, tension, puns etc. I can use a range of strategies to work out the meaning of unknown words and phrases (using picture clues, context of the sentence, diagrams, glossaries, knowledge of words parts, using a dictionary or thesaurus). I can explain the purpose of words, phrases and literary devices used by the author e.g I can identify examples of model verbs within the text and discuss their purpose. Do we need how prefixes and suffixes change the meaning of a word hear.

Comprehension- Monitoring and self correcting	Comprehension- Thinking within the text (Searching for an using info, summarising)	Thinking beyond the text (Predicting, connections, synthesising, inferring)	Thinking about the text (Analysing, critiquing).
Key Understandings Readers actively monitor their reading, they check for meaning, recognise when something doesn't make sense, and take corrective action. Monitoring includes checking word recognition, syntax, meaning, and fluency. - wording? Key Skills I can ask or think questions while reading (e.g., "What did I just read? Does that match what I expect? What might come next?")	Key Understandings The main and supporting ideas of a text help us identify and elaborate on our understanding of the text. Summaries can include a climax, theme and lesson. Author's use dialogue to help us understand a character.	Key Understandings Author's use a range of devices to explain a character. The message of the text can help people learn lessons for use in their own lives. Characters develop traits based on their experiences. Connections can help us develop a deeper understanding of texts	Key Understandings Different text types and have typical stages and language features dependent on their purpose. Fact and opinion The author's use of evidence supports arguments dependent on their strength. Authors use techniques to help us navigate a text.

I can pause during reading to check: “Does this make sense? Does it fit with what I’ve read so far?” I can recognise when a reading error has changed meaning (for example, misreading a word, skipping a line, misunderstanding punctuation) and go back to correct it. I can use multiple sources of information (semantic: meaning; syntactic: structure; graphophonic: letter-sound) to reassess a part of text when meaning is lost. I can re-read or slow down when comprehension breaks down (word confusion, sentence complexity, unfamiliar vocabulary,).	Scanning or skimming ahead allows us to search for information more efficiently. Key Skills identifying moments in the plot where characters are faced with choices, and commenting on how the author makes the reader care about their decisions and the consequences I can identify the main idea of the text and their supporting details. I can identify what is learnt about a character through dialogue such as their likes, dislikes or personal qualities I can include the climate, lesson and theme of the text when summarising. I can can for information using key words and graphics.	Perspectives allow us to understand the characters beliefs, experiences and emotion. Key Skills I can identify the message of the text. I can discuss how the message of the text is applicable to people’s own lives. I can infer the causes of the characters traits. I can identify the point of view in the text. I can describe the character;’s perspective and how it changes throughout the text. I can make connections (text to text and text to world) to compare perspectives, ideas, characterization and literacy devices.	Author’s use literary devices to shape the meaning of the text. (grammar, word choices, free verse, symbolism, personification, metaphor etc.) Author’s make texts more exciting, and engaging to hold the readers interest through plot tension, characters and setting Key Skills I can identify the stages/features of different text types and discuss their purpose I can identify the language features of different text types and discuss their purpose identify how the author used techniques, such as headings, italics and bold text, to support navigation of specific texts I can evaluate if the author’s use of evidence supporting their argument. I can explain how author’s use different literary devices to add to the meaning of the text. (grammar, word choices, free verse, symbolism, personification, metaphor etc. I can discuss how the author made the text interesting or exciting,. Text types include: narratives, factual recounts, imaginative recounts, biographies, information reports, explanations, book talks, poetry and arguments for a particular purpose
--	---	---	---

Writing
Ideas	Audience	Organisation	Word choice
Key Understandings I understand: -that my ideas affect the choices I make within my writing -that different types of writing have a specific purpose -the purpose of refining my ideas -how details support my idea Key Skills I can use a variety of strategies to assist in creating ideas and recording my ideas such as word splashes, drawings, graphics organisers, mind maps etc. I can generate my ideas from known texts, learnt topics, mentor texts or topics of interest. I can elaborate on an idea using details. Essential Vocabulary Tone, formal, informal, specific purpose, generate, elaborate, details, refining.	Key Understandings I understand: -writing can be differentiated for the intended audience -formal and informal tone can be used for different audiences and purposes -the importance of engaging my audience -how to imprint my own voice in my writing Key Skills I can use language devices so my writing 'sounds like me'. I can narrow my focus to engage my reader I can use a range of strategies to engage my audience (dialogue lead, alliteration, persuasive devices.) I can identify when to use a formal or informal tone. I can use the 'show, don't tell' strategy to describe sensory experiences, or character emotions within the text. I can use different language devices to create a mood or feeling in my writing. Essential Vocabulary Dialogue, senses, figurative language, describe, sensory experiences, formal/informal tone.	Key Understandings I understand: -different text types have different structures to suit the purpose -text connectives are used to sequence and connect ideas -that paragraphs are used to group like ideas Key Skills I can use a teacher directed method of planning to suit the text type. I can select the appropriate text structure to suit the purpose of my writing. I can identify the organisational features of a range of texts. I can develop storylines, characters and settings to create a cohesive narrative (narrative only). I can group ideas together to form paragraphs. I can sequence my ideas into paragraphs. I can order my paragraphs into a logical sequence. I can use a range of connectives to sequence my ideas (pronouns, adverbials, time connectives). I can include 'spotlights' and 'speed throughs' in my text to highlight key ideas and pace. I can include clear transitions that connect one sentence to another. Essential Vocabulary paragraphs, logical, sequence, ad.	Key Understandings I understand; -specific language can be used for the specific structure of the text (genre) - word choice can help my reader visualise my ideas -words can be organised into three different tiers that can be used at different times for specific purposes -how language is used to define informal and formal Key Skills I can use word choice to identify and differentiate between language , facts and opinions. I can use a variety of words to influence the mood of my writing. I can use alliteration to engage my reader. I can use specific/precise words. I can use specific words to encourage my reader to visualise . I can understand how word choice can influence different text types. Essential Vocabulary Adjectives, tier words, alliteration, mood, fact and opinion.

Sentence Fluency	Conventions	Spelling-	Presentation
Key Understandings I understand: - varying the structure and length of sentences enhances the reader's experience - the correct structure of a sentence is formed using correct grammar - a cohesive piece of writing has appropriate and consistent tense - different types of sentences are used for a specific purpose - there are 3 types of conjunctions (coordinating, subordinating and correlative) Key Skills I can create a text that the reader can easily follow. I can create a sentence that uses consistent tenses. I can use both prefixes and suffixes to strengthen and structure my sentences. I can start sentences in a variety of ways to engage the reader. I can experiment with my sentence structure to create flow or rhythm. I can choose and use an appropriate tense for effect and with the purpose of the text in mind. Essential Vocabulary Varying structure, conjunctions, coordinating, subordinating, coordinating.	Key Understandings I understand; -the purpose of an apostrophe -what a contraction is -that a writer would use brackets to add additional information -quotation marks are used to symbolise dialogue in my writing -paragraphs are based on one idea or a set of ideas -punctuation marks are used to guide the reader through the writing (quotation marks, apostrophes) Key Skills I can use apostrophes to identify a contraction. I can use brackets to clarify the subject within my text. I can use square brackets to identify edits/ punctuation. I can correctly use quotation marks to represent dialog in my text. I can group relevant ideas into paragraphs Essential Vocabulary Brackets, quotation marks, apostrophe, contraction.	Key Understandings I know/understand what is a homophone I know/understand letter sound relationships I know/understand how to use my knowledge of word origins to spell more complex words. I know/understand my knowledge of spelling patterns to read complex words. Key Skills I can use homophones I can use my knowledge of letter/sound relationships to decode unknown words I can use my knowledge of letter/sound to spell and write words. I can use my knowledge of word origins to build word families I can identify base words I can identify prefixes or suffixes Essential Vocabulary Complex, Prefix, Suffix, Word Origins, semantic knowledge ,	Key Understandings I understand; -how to plan, draft edit a text for a wide range of audiences -when I am presenting my work it needs to be my personal best -my handwriting needs to be legible - I can present my writing in a range of written and digital formats -what 'white space' is and how to frame my text appropriately. - visuals can enhance my writing -the reason why I edit and revise my writing and that not all drafts will be published. Key Skills I can plan,draft, edit a text for a wide range of audiences I can handwrite using clearly formed letters that are an appropriate size. I can use a range of applications on an iPad to construct, edit and publish a written text. I can include in my 'white space' margins, appropriate space between letters, words and lines. I can include relevant illustrations, labelled diagrams, graphs, charts or tables to enhance my writing. I can use my edited draft to create a published piece of writing. Essential Vocabulary White Space, legible, handwritten, applications.

YEAR 5
Speaking and Listening
Key Understandings		Key Understandings
Key Skills		Key Skills
Reading and Viewing
Phonological Awareness oral and auditory	Phonics written and auditory	Fluency	Vocabulary

Key Understandings Key Skills	Different word origins pg 562 from F+P book.	Key Understandings Fluency involves reading with sufficient speed, accuracy and expression so that comprehension is possible A fluent reader recognises known words automatically, self-corrects, and reads in meaningful phrases rather than word by word. Texts can be read to reflect the speaker's intent. Key Skills I can read groups of words in meaningful phrases. I can change my pace and expression using a range of punctuation marks , the context of the text (purpose,mood, voice, dialogue) and text features (typography - bold, italics, bullet points, paragraphs). I can identify the tone of the text and adjust my oral reading accordingly to reflect it. I can adjust my tone, pace and volume to express intent.	Key Understandings Specific vocabulary is used to describe literacy devices, text structure and language features (metaphor, symbolism, tone, theme, plot etc). Using this vocabulary can help the reader share opinions about a text. A range of strategies can be utilised to decipher the meaning of unknown words and phrases. Key Skills I can use specific vocabulary to describe literacy devices, text structure and language features (metaphor, symbolism, tone, theme, plot). I can use a range of strategies to decipher the meaning of unknown words and phrases such as reading on, utilising glossaries, dictionaries, thesauruses, diagraphs, charts etc.
Comprehension- Monitoring and self correcting	Comprehension- Thinking within the text (Searching for an using info, summarising)	Thinking beyond the text (Predicting, connections, synthesising, inferring)	Thinking about the text (Analysing, critiquing).
Key Understandings Strategies can be used to repair meaning at the word, sentence and text level. Literacy elements allow me to monitor and correct my reading. Key Skills I can use a variety of strategies to self correct including re-reading, cross checking and I can utilise my knowledge of text structure and features to monitor and self correct	Key Understandings Certain sections of a text can be more significant to summarise to help us understand the characters, plot or message of a text. The main idea of the text is the central point or most important thought the author wants to convey about a topic. Texts on the same topic may have similarities and differences in ideas. Information about a text can be summarised from	Key Understandings Author's encourage us to ask questions about the beliefs and actions of characters. Texts written in the past contain can be identified by their ideas, vocabulary or expressions. The tone of the text helps us to infer characters or author's opinions or attitudes. Key Skills	Key Understandings Different text types and have typical stages, phases and language features dependent on their purpose. Author's make texts more exciting, and engaging to hold the readers interest Author's use literary devices to shape the meaning of the text. (grammar, word choices, free verse, symbolism, personification, metaphor etc.)

I can use a range of graphics such as maps, diagrams, charts, photos and illustrations to cross check with what I have read.	several sources. Texts can represent details and information about historical, cultural and social contexts. Including texts by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander authors and those from a range of backgrounds. Key Skills I can summarise the ideas and information in the text along with the main idea. I can explain how the ideas of a text are similar or different. I can select a section of the text and summarise it to reflect my understanding of the characters, plot and message. I can locate the main ideas from different texts and use them to summarise information about a topic. I can identify aspects of a text (images, symbols, dialogue, character description) that are representing details and information about historical, cultural or social context.	I can discuss how characters could behave differently and how the author supported or challenged our belief about the characters. I can discuss texts written by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander authors about events that shaped or impacted their lives and make inferences about their feelings. I can make inferences about characters' motives, themes, and underlying messages. I can infer the time and place in which a text was written. I can compare the ideas, vocabulary and expressions of texts written in the past with those written today. I can identify the tone of the text and justify this with text evidence.	Hybrid texts contain both fictional and non-fiction elements. Certain texts hold more relevance to research on a topic. Author's create mood to evoke feelings from their readers. Key Skills I can identify the stages, phases, and purposes, of a range of texts including: narratives, historical recounts, procedural recounts, causal explanations, discussions of alternative positions on an issue, information reports, reviews and types of poems I can explain the devices used by the author to make the text interesting and engaging, I can explain how useful the text was dependent on my purpose as a reader. I can explain how author's use different literary devices to add to the meaning of the text. (grammar, word choices, free verse, symbolism, personification, metaphor etc. I can identify examples of hybrid texts as well as the fictional and non-fiction elements of these texts. I can evaluate if the text I am reading is relevant to my purpose for reading. I can identify the mood of the text and discuss the purpose for this.m
Writing
Ideas	Audience	Organisation	Word choice
Key Understandings I understand: -ideas and opinions can be supported by different	Key Understandings I understand: -writing can be differentiated for the intended	Key Understandings I understand: -different text types have different structures to suit	Key Understandings I understand; -vocabulary can be used for greater sources - my ideas can influence the choices I make within my writing - that different types of writing have a specific purpose - the purpose of refining my ideas for effect -how relevant details and elaborations support my idea Key Skills I can use a variety of strategies to assist in creating and developing ideas. I can generate my ideas from known texts, learnt topics, mentor texts or topics of interest. I can use relevant details to elaborate on an idea. I can identify and use credible sources to support my ideas. I can succinctly plan using dot points. I can expand on my plan to create a piece of writing. Essential Vocabulary Credible sources, succinct, expand, purpose, effect	audience. -that language/tone varies depending on social contexts and relationships -the importance of engaging my audience -how to imprint my own voice in my writing Key Skills I can use language devices so my writing 'sounds like me'. I can adapt my language/tone, to suit a range of social contexts. I can narrow my focus to engage my reader. I can expand on the 'show don't tell' strategy by using figurative language such as simile, metaphor and personification. Essential Vocabulary Metaphor, figurative language, simile, personification, tone	the purpose -there are a range of devices used to create cohesion in a text -paragraphs are used to enhance the composition of a text Key Skills I can use an appropriate method of planning to suit the text type. I can select the appropriate text structure to suit the purpose of my writing. I can identify the organisational features of a range of text types. I can experiment with a variety of storylines, characters and settings to create a cohesive narrative (narrative only). I can explore a range of ways paragraphs can be structured to suit the purpose of the text. I can use a range of devices to create cohesion within a text. (synonyms, cause and effect, conditionals). I can include 'spotlights' and 'speed throughs' in my text to highlight key ideas and pace. Essential Vocabulary Spotlights, speed throughs, purpose, devices, cohesion, organisational features.	precision of meaning -words can have different meanings in different contexts -groups of words/phrases can be expanded in a variety of ways -words can be organised into three different tiers that can be used at different times for specific purposes -what figurative language is Key Skills I can use precise adjectives /verbs to enhance meaning in my writing. I can use noun group phrases. I can use specific tier 3 technical vocabulary. I can experiment with figurative language for effect (simile, metaphor, personification). Essential Vocabulary Noun group, verb groups, tiered vocabulary, adjectives, precise, figurative language.

Sentence Fluency	Conventions	Spelling	Presentation
Key Understandings I understand: - the fluency of my writing impacts its readability - sentence fluency is the flow of words and phrases within writing - different types of sentences are used for a specific purpose	Key Understandings I understand; -conventions allow us to edit the text and prepare it for the reader -there is a common system used to edit my writing -punctuation marks are used to guide the reader through the writing. (commas to indicate phrases)	Key Understandings I understand; -words have different origins that can affect their meaning, spelling and pronunciation - I know/understand words are made of parts (prefix, suffix, base word) - I know/understand that prefixes and suffixes change the meaning of words Key Skills	Key Understandings I understand; - when I am presenting my work it needs to be my personal best -my handwriting needs to be legible and fluent within my writing. - I can present my writing in a range of written and digital formats

-how to appropriately use different types of conjunctions (coordinating, subordinating and correlative) Key Skills I can use complex sentences within my writing. I can use a variety of sentence lengths and types in my writing to create a flow. I can use connectives to show and build relationships between sentences. I can use interesting and varied sentence beginnings I can experiment with sentence structure. I can use a starting sentence for a specific purpose. I can use subsequent sentences to elaborate on the starting sentence. I can start sentences in a variety of ways to engage the reader. I can include prepositional phrases in my writing. I can include different types of conjunctions in my writing appropriately (coordinating, subordinating and correlative). Essential Vocabulary Connectives, sentence types, subsequent, elaborating, readability, correlative.	Key Skills I can use commas when using prepositional phrases in my writing. I can use apostrophes to show possession for regular and irregular nouns. I can use symbols when editing my writing. I can use commas to separate dependent and independent clauses. I can independently edit my writing to improve its readability. Essential Vocabulary Punctuation, guide, phrases, possession, irregular, dependent and independent clauses, edit, revise	I can use suffixes to represent tense correctly I can identify morphemes within a word I can identify base words I can identify prefixes or suffixes I can differentiate between bound and free morphemes I can make connections between similar part in different words I can use word matrices to construct words Essential Vocabulary Phonology, morphology, base words, prefixes, suffixes, etymology, bound morpheme and free morpheme	-how to utilise a 'white space' appropriately to frame my text - visuals can enhance my writing -how to use an agreed upon criteria to revise and edit my own writing and others. Key Skills I can include relevant illustrations, labelled diagrams, graphs, charts or tables to enhance my writing. I can reread and edit my own and others work using agreed upon criteria. I can explain/justify editing choices for my own writing and when editing others' writing. I can use a range of applications to construct, edit and publish a written text. I can use my edited draft to create a published piece of writing. Essential Vocabulary White Space, legible, handwritten, word processing
---	---	--	---

YEAR 6
Speaking and Listening
Key Understandings		Key Understandings
Key Skills		Key Skills
Reading and Viewing
Phonological Awareness oral and auditory	Phonics written and auditory	Fluency	Vocabulary
Key Understandings	Key Understandings A range of strategies can be used to correctly read words.	Key Understandings Texts can be read in a dramatic and expressive way dependant of the purpose of an audience e.g ironical, sarcastic, imploring.	Key Understandings The meaning and history of words allows us to gain a deeper understanding of their use.
Key Skills	Key Skills I can use a range of strategies to correctly read/pronounce words including using syllables, breaking words into prefixes, suffixes and base words, and knowledge of word origins (e.g greek and latin words).	Altering the tone, pace, and volume of our voice makes reading more impactful and purposeful. Key Skills I can recognise the purpose and intended audience of the texts.	Some words are ambiguous and their meaning may be subject to interpretation. Some words are created by authors themselves to create nuances.
		I can alter the tone, pace and volume of my voice	Authors use objective and subjective language for a range of purposes.

		for dramatic effect and to convey the purpose.	A range of strategies can be utilised to decipher the meaning of unknown words and phrases. Key Skills I can utilise a range of resources to decipher the history and meaning of words. I can discuss the effect of ambiguous words if they are interpreted differently. I can identify author-created words and discuss the purpose for which they have been used. I can identify the author's use of objects and subjective language and discuss its purpose. I can use a range of strategies to decipher the meaning of unknown words and phrases such as reading on, utilising glossaries, dictionaries, thesauruses, diagraphs, charts etc.
Comprehension- Monitoring and self correcting	Comprehension- Thinking within the text (Searching for an using info, summarising)	Thinking beyond the text (Predicting, connections, synthesising, inferring)	Thinking about the text (Analysing, critiquing).
Key Understandings Strategies can be used to repair meaning at the word, sentence and text level. Literacy elements allow me to monitor and correct my reading. Knowledge of tier 3 language can assist me to monitor understanding of texts with new information and idea. Key Skills I can use a variety of strategies to self correct including re-reading, cross checking and I can utilise my knowledge of text structure and features to monitor and self correct	Key Understandings A range of resources can be utilised to search for information. Embedded clauses can expand the variety of complex sentences to elaborate, extend and explain ideas. Summaries need to be of concise relate important information, often with relevant opinions and evidence which reflect the overall message or theme of the text. Information in texts have different hierarchies ranging from most to least important Key Skills	Key Understandings Knowledge of literacy works can assist in making accurate predictions . Narrative texts have many variations in their plot structures Knowledge of different disciplines e.g science and technology), allow us to better understand texts. Relationships among characters can be inferred using a range of sources. Texts in many genres give us new insights into cultures of historical times. Key Skills I can use my prior knowledge of genre, text	Key Understandings Author biases can influence the meaning and arguments of a text. The text structures and language features of a text work together to meet the purpose of, engage and influence the audience. Some texts may be more authentic than others for our purpose. Key Skills I can identify words and phrases which show author's bias towards a particular subject, idea/s or argument including literacy devices such as contradiction, paradox and allusion

I can use a range of graphics such as maps, diagraphs, charts, photos and illustrations to cross check with what I have read. I can use my knowledge of tier 3 vocabulary to monitor meaning and self correct when needed, including re-read section of the text when meaning is broken down.	I can identify the overall message or theme of the texts I can summarise the texts using relevant information, arguments or opinions which support the overall message or meaning of the text. I can investigate how the choice of conjunctions enables the construction of complex sentences to extend, elaborate on and explain ideas, for example 'The town that was flooded suffered extensive damage.' I can identify information from most to least important I can use a range of resource form the text to locate specifi information e.g diagrams, sideboards, hyperlinks etc. ,	structure and purpose to predict information, arguments, evidence and plotlines of texts. I can predict if texts will contain specific literacy features such as plot twists, flashbacks, flashforwards or foreshadowing. I can discuss my prior knowledge on a specific subject and how it relates to the text I have read. I can identify the relationship between the characters and how these change based upon plots and interpretations. I can explain what cultural and historical insights the text has provided to us and how.	I can evaluate if the author's arguments or ideas are well supported. I can explain how the text structure and language features engage or influence the audience. I can explain how the text structure and language features meet the purpose of the text. I can use other sources to evaluate the authenticity of a text (e.g. research and additional reading).
---	--	--	--

Writing

Ideas	Audience	Organisation	Word choice
Key Understandings I understand: -what bias is and how writing can be influenced by it -that my ideas should influence the choices I make within my writing -how precise details and elaborations support my idea Key Skills I can explain what bias is and what is its purpose in my writing I can make choices as a writer to enhance my written piece (I can write a narrative to entertain an audience) I can interpret and paraphrase information from credible sources.	Key Understandings I understand: - the use of language varies depending on the level of formality, social contexts and relationships -what bias is and how writing can be influenced by it -there is a difference between objective and subjective language -I can write about the same topic for different audiences and purposes -how to imprint my own voice in my writing Key Skills I can use language devices so my writing 'sounds like me'. I can use bias in my writing for an intended purpose.	Key Understandings I understand: -paragraphs are structured in a specific way and used to enhance the composition of a text -a range of devices can be purposely used to create cohesion in a text Key Skills I can use an appropriate method of planning to suit the text type. I can purposely structure a paragraph to suit the purpose of my writing. I can purposely use a range of devices to create cohesion and enhance my text. (transitional phrases, comparison and contrast, word association) I can use word matrices to construct words.	Key Understandings I understand; -vocabulary can be used for greater precision of meaning -words can be organised into three different tiers that can be used at different times for specific purposes -what objective and subjective language is. -how to use figurative language for effect and purpose. Key Skills I can accurately/ precisely use verbs to enhance meaning in my writing including adverbials of time. I can make precise verb and adverb choices within my writing.

I can expand an idea by using supporting evidence or descriptive language. I can succinctly plan using dot points. I can expand on my plan to create piece of writing . Essential Vocabulary Bias, objective, subjective, paraphrase, credible source	I can use objective or subjective language in my writing depending on the purpose. I can expand on show don't tell strategy by using figurative language such as hyperboles, rhetorical questions, idioms, oxymoron). I can create informative texts for at least 2 different audiences (e.g. Grade 3 class and an academic) Essential Vocabulary Audience, purpose, dependent clauses, independent clauses, figurative language (hyperboles, rhetorical questions, idioms, oxymoron)	Essential Vocabulary Paragraph, cohesion, transitional phrases, compare and contrast, word association	I can use figurative language for effect (simile, metaphor, personification). I can use objective and subjective language for a purpose. Essential Vocabulary Tier vocabulary, adverb, precision, figurative language, subjective and objective language.
Sentence Fluency	Conventions	Spelling	Presentation
Key Understandings I understand: - the fluency of my writing impacts its readability - sentence fluency is the flow of words and phrases within writing - different types of sentences are used for a specific purpose Key Skills I can experiment with sentence structure for maximum impact. I can embed the use of different sentence types in my writing I can choose appropriate conjunctions to add meaning to sentences Essential Vocabulary Readability, impact, purpose, conjunctions, embed.	Key Understandings I understand: - conventions allow us to edit the text and prepare it for the reader -there is a common system used to edit my writing -punctuation can be used to guide the reader through the writing and to create effect and experiences Key Skills I can use commas to separate dependent and independent clauses. I can use colons in writing. I can use brackets in my writing. I can independently edit my writing to improve its readability. I can use a range of punctuation for different effects and purposes. Essential Vocabulary Commas, clauses, dependent, independent, colons, brackets, effects, purposes.	Key Understandings I know/understand - words have different origins that can affect their meaning, spelling and pronunciation - words are made of parts (prefix, suffix, base word) - prefixes and suffixes change the meaning of words - many technical words have Latin or Greek roots. Key Skills I can use suffixes to represent tense correctly I can identify morphemes within a word I can identify base words, prefixes and suffixes I can differentiate between bound and free morphemes I can make connections between similar part in different words I can use a dictionary to investigate word origins Essential Vocabulary Phonology, morphology, base words, prefixes, suffixes, etymology, bound morpheme and free morpheme	Key Understandings I understand: - when I am presenting my work it needs to be my personal best -my handwriting needs to be legible, fluent and vary depending on purpose - I can present my writing in a range of written and digital formats -what 'white space' is and how to frame my text appropriately - visuals can enhance my writing -how to use an agreed upon criteria to revise and edit my own writing and others Key Skills I can handwrite using clearly formed letters that are an appropriate size. I can use handwriting to create informal and formal writing creations. I can develop fluency with my sentences. I can use a range of applications to construct, edit and publish a written text.

			I can include in my 'white space' margins, appropriate space between letters, words and lines. I can include relevant illustrations, labelled diagrams, graphs, charts or tables to enhance my writing. I can reread and edit my own and others work using agreed upon criteria. I can explain/justify editing choices for my own writing and when editing others' writing. I can use my edited draft to create a published piece of writing Essential Vocabulary White Space, legible, handwritten, word processing
--	--	--	---